Collection: Legacy

Legacy explores what it means to faithfully steward everything God has placed in our hands. Several of our passages speak directly about money and possessions, but the goal of this series is much broader than financial giving. We want students to understand that their time, attention, abilities, relationships, influence, opportunities, and possessions have all been entrusted to them by God. Our prayer is that students learn to live with open hands. We want them to receive God's gifts with gratitude, use them with wisdom, and direct them toward the good of others and the mission of Jesus.

Our central truth throughout the series will be: Everything in our hands came from God, belongs to God, and can be used for the purposes of God.

Below is a brief preview of each week's topic along with a few questions you can use to continue the discussion with your student.

October 14: Zacchaeus*Primary Scripture: Luke 19:1–10

Key Point: When Jesus changes your heart, it changes what you do with everything in your hands. Zacchaeus built his life by taking from others. After encountering the grace of Jesus, he began giving generously and repairing the harm he had caused. His generosity did not earn salvation; it demonstrated that Jesus had genuinely changed him.

Guided Questions:

- What changed Zacchaeus's relationship with his possessions?
- Why is generosity evidence of grace rather than a way to earn God's love?
- What has God placed in your hands that you could use to help someone else?

October 21: The Rich Fool*Primary Scripture: Luke 12:13–21

Key Point: Your life is not measured by what you accumulate, but by whether you are rich toward God. The rich man's problem was not simply that he possessed wealth. He treated everything as though it existed only for his comfort and security. Jesus reminds us that possessions can never provide the identity, security, or life that only God can give.

Guided Questions:

- What made the man in Jesus' parable foolish?
- What are some "bigger barns" students might be tempted to build today?
- What do you think it means to be "rich toward God"?

October 21: Treasures in Heaven*Primary Scripture: Matthew 6:19–21

Key Point: Your heart follows whatever you treasure. Jesus teaches that everything we possess on earth is temporary. He invites us to invest our lives in what will last. Our spending, schedules, and attention do more than reveal what we love; they also train our hearts to love those things more deeply.

Guided Questions:

- What do your spending, schedule, and screen time reveal about what matters to you?
- Why do you think Jesus says our hearts follow our treasure?
- What could our family invest in that has eternal significance?

October 28: The Parable of the Talents

Primary Scripture: Matthew 25:14–30

Key Point: Faithfulness means putting what God entrusted to us to work for His kingdom. The master entrusted different amounts to his servants, but he called each of them to faithfulness. God does not ask students to possess someone else's abilities, opportunities, or influence. He asks them to use what He has already placed in their hands. Students do not need to wait until adulthood to participate in God's work.

Guided Questions:

- What has God entrusted specifically to you?
- What might cause someone to bury what God has given them?
- What is one faithful step you can take with what God has placed in your hands?

As we move through this series, consider sharing with your student how your own understanding of stewardship and generosity has developed. Honest stories about where you have struggled, grown, or witnessed God's faithfulness can create meaningful conversations.

Thank you for partnering with us in discipling your student. While our conversations happen on Wednesday nights, we believe some of the most meaningful spiritual growth happens around the dinner table, in the car, or during everyday conversations at home. We hope these questions help continue what God begins each week as together we help students know, trust, and follow the real Jesus.
